1

Ask the audience, "what do we use our eyes for?" If they say "to see" ask them to be more specific. "To see what?" Repeat people's answers as they say them.

And this is only a few of the things we use our eyes for every day. [read slide]
We could probably come up with a list a mile long of all the things our eyes help us with.

7

So if we couldn't use our eyes, we'd: Never have matching clothes Never be able to drive Never see our friends' smiles Only listen to movies Get too much mustard on our dog

[read slide]

5

We use our eyes for just about everything.

Notes

840,000 children go to the hospital for eye injuries.

[read slide]

7

Which is why this statistic is so sad.

8

That's more than the population of the cities of Cincinnati and Cleveland combined.
And it's way more than the number of kids in all of Ohio 4–H.
That's a lot of injuries to something that's so important to us.

Eye injuries are a leading cause of blindness in children.

And it gets worse: Eye injuries are a leading cause of blindness in children.

10

Most injuries can be prevented when we wear eye protection.

But this presentation isn't all gloom and doom! The good news is most injuries can be prevented when we wear eye protection. So what's "eye protection?"
